

Experience the Port of Long Beach on Free Harbor Tour Reservations open Monday for August dates

June 29, 2012

Enjoy the sights and sounds of a major international seaport close-up on one of the free, narrated harbor tours offered by the Port of Long Beach. All you need is a reservation.

Reservations open 8 a.m. Monday, July 2, for the August tours. Go to www.polb.com/porttours to see tour dates and make a reservation online. You can also make a reservation by calling (562) 283-7700 when reservations open.

This year, the Port's tour program includes a special "sunset cruise" each month, capturing the harbor at evening time.

The Port of Long Beach, the second busiest seaport in the United States, is a hub of international commerce with massive freight ships, powerful tugboats and soaring cranes. You can see it all from the water on one of our 90-minute tours offered through October.

Online reservations open up at 8 a.m. on the first working Monday of each month for tours the following month. On July 2, at 8 a.m., reservations will be available for the August tours, followed by September tour reservations on Aug. 6, and so on. Seating is limited and spaces go fast, so reserve early.
